

RESEARCH REPORT

Quiet Compass — Product Plan

Brand kit, product ladder, launch lineup, full briefs, build specs and launch plan — from the 2026-09-12 Gumroad research

Product Planning Agent · 12 September 2026

Contents

Executive summary

Evidence digest

- Demand and what actually sells
- What buyers complain about — these are product requirements
- Design and listing craft
- The closest competitor, studied properly
- What the data can't tell us

Brand foundation

- The choice: Quiet Compass
- Palette
- Typography — all SIL Open Font License 1.1, verified 2026-09-12
- Voice
- Visual system and listing rules

Product line architecture

- The ladder
- Category map — the 12 research categories
- Platform strategy
- Naming system

Selection & scoring

- Launch selection (7 products + 1 bundle)
- Backlog (ranked, 24 ideas)

Launch product briefs

- PB-001 — The Focus Audit
- PB-002 — The Compass System
- PB-003 — The Balance Audit
- PB-004 — The 90-Day Kaizen Program
- PB-005 — The Review Ritual
- PB-006 — The One-Page Year (free)
- PB-022 — The 10-Minute Life Audit (free)

Bundles & pricing

- BN-02 — The Life Direction Set
- Pricing rationale
- Revenue scenarios — planning arithmetic, not forecasts

Build specs overview

Listings & launch plan

- Gumroad listing mechanics — every product

Launch calendar

The lead-magnet funnel

Content angles

Success metrics

The first three experiments

Risks & compliance

Originality — how each product differs from what it's positioned against

Intellectual property — the hard rules

Platform rules

Claims

Accessibility

Open questions for the owner

Handoff to the Design/Build agent

Appendix

Sources

ID changelog

Plan changelog

NOTE Source: Research Reports/2026-09-12 Gumroad Digital Product Research Report.md (Gumroad only; Etsy research paused by the owner), plus the evidence behind it in research/. Scope: a buildable launch plan — brand kit, ladder, selection, full briefs, build specs, listings, calendar, risks and handoff. Every major decision cites its evidence; everything else is labelled [Assumption].

Executive summary

What we'll launch: seven products and one bundle, in one warm editorial brand system, each shipped as a printable PDF (A4 + US Letter) and a hyperlinked tablet PDF, with Notion tiers where they genuinely add something.

Order	ID	Name	Format	Price
1	PB-006	The One-Page Year	print + tablet	free
2	PB-022	The 10-Minute Life Audit	print + tablet	free
3	PB-001	The Focus Audit	print + tablet (+ Notion)	$9
4	PB-003	The Balance Audit	print + tablet + Notion	$12 / $19
5	PB-002	The Compass System	print + tablet + Notion	$19 / $29
6	PB-004	The 90-Day Kaizen Program	workbook + wall tracker	$24
7	BN-02	The Life Direction Set	bundle of the four paid	$49
8	PB-005	The Review Ritual (wave 2)	print + tablet (+ Notion)	$15

Why this, and why now. The research found Gumroad's planning market is a Notion market run on free tiers, where the headline numbers are mostly free claims. Two lanes are open at the top: guided method products (audits, workbooks, review rituals) and a warm, light, editorial look delivered in multiple formats. Our categories sit in both. The single occupant of that quadrant, Ideas To Thrive, is new and has almost no proof — 9 ratings on its $49 flagship.

The three decisions that shape everything else:

1. Position: warm, light, editorial + guided method + multi-format. Nobody at the top of Gumroad is there, and only one warm editorial thumbnail exists in the entire competitor set.
2. Method over trackers. Trackers are saturated; teaching is rare. Every product ships a named mechanism — the Floor, the Restart Page, the Vital Few, Standing Rules — and a visible payoff page.
3. Show everything. Competitors sell $47–$149 products with one to three images and no interior previews. A complete 10-slot image set per listing is our cheapest durable advantage.

What it costs in effort: 237 hours of solo build work across brand system, seven products and seven listing image sets (+22 h if all three Notion tiers ship at launch). At 20 hours a week that is roughly 12 weeks to the full lineup, with the first paid product live in week 4.

The first milestone: by the end of week 4, the two free products and PB-001 are live, the brand grid reads as one shop, and we have our first ratings — which is what drives Gumroad Discover ranking.

WARNING Two naming decisions were forced by the evidence and cannot be reversed without legal risk. “Wheel of Life” is a live US trademark covering printed personal-development and goal-setting materials, so PB-003 is renamed and the phrase is banned from our titles, tags and pages. “Life Compass” is crowded on both platforms and is also the name of a therapy worksheet, so PB-002 is renamed. Details in Risks & compliance.

Evidence digest

The fifteen findings this plan is built on. Sources are the report's sections plus the seller files and audits behind them.

INSIGHT The market's weak spot is consistent across all fifteen sellers: they sell tools, not methods, and they hide the inside of the product. Every decision below exploits one of those two gaps.

Demand and what actually sells

1. Free tiers inflate every headline number. Most flagship listings include a $0 tier and Gumroad's `sales_count` counts free checkouts. Heyismail's "$3.9M" is an upper bound; the confirmed paid floor is ≈$50k. (Report §Executive summary #1; `research/01-seller-discovery.md` §Revenue caveat.) Consequence: we treat claim counts as audience signals, never as revenue evidence.
2. Guided PDF products genuinely sell on Gumroad when framed as a program or workbook. Live Intentionally 13,089 × $19.99 ≈ $266k; The M.E.A.N. Workbook 4,475 × $47 ≈ $230k; 7-Day Reset 2,272 × $7. (Report §Best-seller teardown.) Consequence: PDF is a viable primary format — but as a program, not as a "planner".
3. PDF planners are unproven on Gumroad. JNKxStudio's 920-page GoodNotes planner was abandoned with 0 ratings. (Report §Seller profiles 03.) Consequence: tablet PDFs ship as a format tier, never as the flagship promise. Tablet-planner demand gets tested on Etsy later.
4. Nobody sells a named 80/20 or focus audit. The nearest things are one day inside 7-Day Reset and an $89 time-audit book. (Report §Category analysis; `research/categories/gumroad-categories.md`.) Consequence: PB-001 is the lowest-competition launch and goes first among paid products.
5. Purpose and self-audit are thin, not empty. The best ikigai product has 785 sales; the whole purpose-compass category shows 8,881 known sales. (Category analysis.) Consequence: real but modest demand — price at $9–19, don't bet the flagship on volume.
6. The goal-workbook category has zero strong products. 15 products found, none with ≥1,000 sales or ≥100 ratings. (Category analysis.) Consequence: low competition and unproven demand — which is why PB-004 borrows the proven program framing instead of the "workbook" framing.
7. Trackers are everywhere; teaching is rare. Habit, finance and goal trackers run to 20k–50k claims each, almost none with a method, review ritual or decision step. (Observed across 13 sellers.) Consequence: this is the gap the whole brand occupies.

What buyers complain about — these are product requirements

8. Setup friction. "It takes some reading to adapt...", "It took 10–15 min to adapt to it." (Organized dashboard buyers, report §Buyer voice.) → every product opens with a "Start here" page and a stated time cost.

9. Complex systems rate worse. Chris's Habit Hub 10% 1★; Atul's finance 15% 1★ and habit 22% 1★; JNKxStudio's starter pack 33% 1★. (Report §Buyer voice.) → fewer, deeper pages; a "minimum viable use" path; scope stated honestly.
10. The early days are hard. "the first 21 days were very hard for me." (STRONGLAND buyer.) → PB-004's day-21 checkpoint, floor habits and Restart Page exist because of this line.
11. Printable trackers get loved and pinned up. "The worksheet provided with purchase is a simple, yet effective touch." · "Hang it up on my office and fill it the next day." (STRONGLAND buyers.) → every program ships a pin-up artefact; PB-004's wall tracker is a headline deliverable, not a bonus.
12. The values and vision layer is what buyers praise. "...effort into the general vision, core values, wheel of life and your general goals..." (Daniel Marthi buyer.) → the compass and values work leads PB-002 rather than sitting at the back.

Design and listing craft

13. Thumbnails are interchangeable. 12 of 15 flagship thumbnails carry a Notion logo or badge, 11 show a device, most use grey/black/blue sans. Exactly one warm, light, editorial thumbnail exists in the whole set. (Report §Thumbnail search-grid test; research/audits/thumbs-gumroad-top.png.)

The fifteen flagship thumbnails at search-grid size — the sameness is the opportunity

14. Image sets are thin even on expensive products. Easlo's $79 Second Brain has 2 images; Chris's $149 Life OS has 1 still image; The M.E.A.N. Workbook at $47 has a cover and nothing else. (Report §Executive summary #9; research/audits/gumroad-theoverwhelmedbrain-jkSo.md.) → the 10-slot set is a cheap, durable edge.

15. Consistency wins the shop grid. The strongest shops use one cover template across every product; Easlo has 24,310 ratings on a single monochrome formula. (Report §Seller profiles 05.) → one cover system, one accent colour per product family.

The same fifteen products as 16:9 hero covers

The closest competitor, studied properly

Ideas To Thrive is the only seller in our target quadrant. Its paid workbooks are genuinely well made — editorial serif titles, letter-spaced kickers, spec strips, one framework per page, worked examples, designed for home printing at low ink.

Ideas To Thrive — Build Your Discipline System, the full listing sequence

What we borrow as principles (never wording or layout): design for bad days (floor + restart); diagnose before you plan; one framework per page with a fixed anatomy; multi-format by default; spec strips and page-anatomy images. (research/sellers/gumroad-S3-ideastothrive.md $G.)

Where we beat it: it has no ladder, no bundles, almost no proof, inconsistent naming, a cool-grey free-kit system that clashes with its warm paid system, and free kits that “look like web forms”. We ship a coherent ladder, a warmer and more distinctive identity, our own diagrams, and designed free products.

What the data can’t tell us

- No review text. Gumroad exposes star breakdowns only; every buyer quote above is a testimonial the seller chose to publish. Complaint reasons behind 1★ ratings are unknown.
- No free-to-paid split is published anywhere, so conversion is always an assumption (the report models 2% / 5% / 10%).
- Hidden sales on many paid products (Easlo, Organized dashboard, Sireal, Daniel Marthi, most Ideas To Thrive paid workbooks), so several competitors are understated.
- Etsy is entirely absent from this evidence base. Tablet-planner demand, which is probably Etsy-first, is therefore unproven for us.
- Nothing here measures our own audience, because we don’t have one yet. That is the single biggest risk in this plan.

Brand foundation

Full kit: `Product Plans/brand-kit.md` (v1). Summary below.

WARNING

The brand name is an [Assumption] pending the owner’s confirmation. Everything else — palette, type, page system, voice — stands regardless of which name is chosen. Only the wordmark changes.

The choice: Quiet Compass

The report offered three directions. We merge them into one brand rather than picking one, because the evidence says shop-grid consistency is what compounds:

- “Quiet Compass” gives the name, palette and compass device — a calm, reflective identity that reads instantly as not another Notion dashboard.
- “Field Manual” gives the page craft: letter-spaced kickers, spec strips, worked examples, one framework per page. This is the part that makes a $19 PDF feel worth $19.
- “1% Studio” gives the method: floors, restarts, the Kaizen loop, which becomes PB-004 and Part 3 of PB-002.

Justification from the positioning map. The map’s open cell is warm, light, editorial × guided method. “Quiet Compass” is the only one of the three names that signals both halves — warmth and direction — while “1% Studio” signals method but reads cool and techy, and “Field Manual” signals method but is generic and already echoed by the incumbent’s “A working manual” subtitle.

Conflict screens (search only — NOT legal clearance; a professional trademark search is required before the owner commits):

- Quiet Compass — no Etsy shop, Gumroad creator or product found under the exact name; no USPTO record surfaced. Proceed.
- 1% Studio — rejected: `1percnt.com`, `onepercentstudio.com`, and The 1% Planner, an existing undated goal-planner brand. Three live users, one in our category.
- Field Manual — rejected as a brand: generic, unownable, and too close to the incumbent’s language.

Palette

○ #FBF8F3 paper · ● #1F2A36 ink · ● #3E6B89 primary · ● #D9A441 accent · ● #7C9A7E support · ● #E4DCD0 stone

Role	Hex	Use
Paper	○ #FBF8F3	every page and listing-image ground
Ink	● #1F2A36	all body text, prompts, rules, writing lines
Primary	● #3E6B89	headings, tabs, kickers, diagram strokes, the compass

Role	Hex	Use
Accent	 #D9A441	one focal element per image; badges; the “you are here” marker. Never text. ≤10% of any image
Support	 #7C9A7E	Kaizen and growth marks, floor chips, charts
Stone	 #E4DCD0	worked-example boxes, zebra rows, quiet panels
Print variant	—	white ground, hairline rules, tints not solids, ≤8% ink coverage

Chosen against the measured competitor palettes: greyscale minimal, corporate steel blue, dark neon, terracotta boho, burgundy, navy+yellow and editorial jewel are all taken. Warm paper + deep ink + one confident accent is almost unused, and it prints well — which matters because every product is a printable.

Accessibility rules: body text is always ink on paper. Primary is for headings ≥18 pt only. Accent never carries meaning alone — always paired with a label or shape, so pages survive greyscale and colour-blindness. Greyscale legibility is a QA gate on every product.

Typography — all SIL Open Font License 1.1, verified 2026-09-12

Role	Font	Licence	Print sizes
Headings / display	Fraunces	OFL 1.1, verified at github.com/google/fonts/blob/main/ofl/fraunces/OFL.txt	28–34 pt titles · 18–22 pt sections · 13–15 pt italic accent
Body / prompts	Source Sans 3	OFL 1.1, verified at github.com/adobe-fonts/source-sans	10–11 pt body · never below 9 pt
Numerals / labels	IBM Plex Mono	OFL 1.1, verified at github.com/IBM/plex	8 pt kickers (12% tracked caps) · 10–14 pt numbers

Backup serif: Source Serif 4 (OFL 1.1, verified). OFL permits commercial use and PDF embedding; fonts may never be sold standalone, and the licence text ships in `/licences` with every product. No font enters a product without a licence check recorded in the brand kit.

Voice

Calm · specific · kind-but-firm. Deliberately the opposite of the two loudest sellers in the category: STRONGLAND’s shaming, male-coded copy with weight-loss claims, and The Overwhelmed Brain’s diagnostic-sounding promises with no disclaimer.

Do	Don’t
“Twenty minutes a day, for seven days.”	“Transform your entire life in one week!”
“A bad week is data, not failure. Here’s the restart page.”	“No excuses. Most people quit here.”
“This is paper and PDF. You do the thinking.”	“This system does the work for you.”
Name our own mechanisms: the Floor, the Restart Page, the Vital Few	Borrowed method names (GTD, PARA, WOOP, Wheel of Life)

Visual system and listing rules

- Signature device: our own four-direction compass — N Direction · E Energy · S Systems · W Wellbeing — used as icon, diagram and scoring wheel. Never the ikigai Venn, which is borrowed and widely copied.
- Second device: the Kaizen loop — Floor → Ideal → Restart.
- The thumbnail formula we will own: warm paper ground → mono kicker → one Fraunces benefit line of ≤ 6 words → one line-art device with a single brass marker → a thin spec strip. No device mockup, no third-party logos, no busy desk scene.
- One accent per family: Focus = brass · Direction = primary · Kaizen = sage · Reflection = stone.
- Every product ships all 10 image slots. No proof numbers until we actually have them; no fake urgency; no platform-endorsement badges.

Product line architecture

The ladder

The report's observed Gumroad ladder runs free → $5–9 → $17–29 → $39–59 → $79–99 → bundles. We deliberately stop at $49: our categories are thin-but-real, we have no audience yet, and the evidence shows cheap bundles outsell expensive ones (Daniel Marthi's $29 bundle: 204 sales, against Heyismail's $325 bundle: 111).

Rung	Price	Products	Job on the ladder
Lead magnet	free	PB-006 One-Page Year · PB-022 10-Minute Life Audit	Ratings, email, brand recognition. Each is a complete tool, not a crippled demo
Entry	$9–12	PB-001 Focus Audit · PB-003 Balance Audit	Impulse price, proven band ($7–$17 guided PDFs), fast to build
Core system	$19–29	PB-002 The Compass System (+Notion tier)	The flagship and the brand's argument
Program	$24	PB-004 90-Day Kaizen Program	Proven format ($19.99 × 13,089), obvious design gap
Retention	$15	PB-005 The Review Ritual	Brings buyers back weekly; the reason to stay subscribed
Bundle	$49	BN-02 The Life Direction Set	Cross-sell from every listing

Each free product upgrades into a specific paid one — PB-006 → PB-002, PB-022 → PB-003 — following the pattern that works across the top sellers (free tools as modules of the paid system), but with an honest “this free version is complete as it is” line, borrowed as a principle from Organized dashboard's “what this free version doesn't do”.

Category map — the 12 research categories

Category	Now	Later	Never	Why
80/20 focus audit	PB-001	PB-010, PB-016, PB-032	—	Lowest competition found; no named product exists
Self audit	PB-003, PB-022	PB-010	clinical assessments	Medium saturation, paid demand proven ($47 workbook, 4,475 sales)
Purpose compass	PB-002	PB-012, PB-023, PB-029	ikigai Venn products	Thin competition; best competitor is solopreneur-framed
Kaizen planner	PB-004	PB-009, PB-025	—	No competitor is named Kaizen; habit trackers saturated but method-free
Goal workbook	PB-004	PB-013, PB-014	—	Zero strong products; we enter via the proven “program” framing
Concise goal sheet	PB-006	PB-028	—	Ideal free lead magnet
Reflective planning	PB-005	PB-020, PB-021	—	Review cycles are missing or shallow everywhere

Category	Now	Later	Never	Why
Goal planner	Notion tiers only	PB-026	standalone Notion tracker	Saturated, gap 1/5 — we'd be the 40th
Journaling pages	—	PB-008, PB-020	standalone cheap journals	Cheap and plentiful; only viable as companions
Money organization	—	PB-007, PB-015, PB-031	—	High demand, low gap; needs the method angle and careful disclaimers
Budgeting	—	PB-017, PB-018, PB-019	advice-adjacent products	Sheets skill required; "not financial advice" throughout
Digital planner	format tier only	PB-024	dated all-in-one planners	Ease 1/5, gap 1/5; Etsy-first when research resumes

Platform strategy

Gumroad now. Per listing: a 16:9 benefit hero, a separate square thumbnail, the 10-slot image set, an FAQ that answers the price objection, a stated guarantee, a changelog line, and a polite rating request in the delivery file. Ratings drive Discover ranking, so the free products exist partly to farm ratings honestly.

Free-tier structure is an open question for the owner (see Open questions Q3). The evidence supports both: free tiers inside paid listings drive ranking and email capture (the top 7 volume sellers all use them), but they also make published sales numbers meaningless and can cannibalise a $9 product. Recommendation

[Assumption]: separate free listings for PB-006 and PB-022, paid listings kept clean — because our paid products are cheap already, and because a $0 tier caps the whole listing at Gumroad's 250 MB free-product limit.

Etsy later. Every brief below carries an Etsy-ready title (≤ 140 characters) and 13 tags (≤ 20 characters each) so nothing needs rewriting when Etsy research resumes. File plan respects Etsy's limit of 5 files × 20 MB, which is why each product ships as a small number of consolidated PDFs rather than many.

Naming system

The <Noun> for tools and systems — The Focus Audit, The Balance Audit, The Compass System, The Review Ritual. Programs carry their duration: The 90-Day Kaizen Program. Free products state their size or time: The One-Page Year, The 10-Minute Life Audit.

The word Compass is the house word: it appears in the brand, the flagship and the signature device, tying the catalogue together the way "[Limitless OS]" ties Daniel Marthi's freebies to his flagship — without putting a bracketed system tag in every title.

Selection & scoring

Every idea in the report's bank, scored on the `product-brief-format` guide: Demand • Gap • Ease • Price potential • Brand fit, each out of 5, total out of 25. Scores for PB-001 to PB-008 are carried from the report; PB-009 to PB-032 and PB-022 are scored here for the first time.

Launch selection (7 products + 1 bundle)

ID	Name	D	G	E	P	F	Total	Why it's in
PB-003	The Balance Audit	4	4	4	4	5	21	Highest score; paid self-audit demand proven; no competitor shows a wheel
PB-001	The Focus Audit	3	5	5	3	5	21	Lowest competition found; fastest paid build; proven $7–9 band
PB-002	The Compass System	3	5	3	4	5	20	The flagship and the brand's whole argument
PB-004	The 90-Day Kaizen Program	4	4	3	4	5	20	Proven format with the clearest design gap in the research
PB-022	The 10-Minute Life Audit	4	4	5	1	5	19	Free funnel into our highest-scoring product
PB-005	The Review Ritual	3	4	4	3	5	19	Retention — the only product that earns a weekly return visit
PB-006	The One-Page Year	3	4	5	1	4	17	Free funnel into the flagship; the brand's handshake
BN-02	The Life Direction Set	—	—	—	—	—	—	Cross-sell from every paid listing

Selection is not purely by score: PB-006 scores 17 and is still in, because a ladder without a lead magnet doesn't work on Gumroad — free tools are how every high-reach seller in the study built an audience.

Backlog (ranked, 24 ideas)

ID	Name	D	G	E	P	F	Total	One-line reasoning
PB-010	Energy Audit	2	5	5	2	5	19	No competitor; natural PB-001 companion, but unproven demand alone
PB-013	Quarter Plan Workbook	4	3	3	4	5	19	Real demand for 12-week planning without using the trademarked name
PB-014	Year Compass Planner	4	3	3	4	5	19	Seasonal (Nov–Jan); build once PB-002 exists to reuse pages
PB-008	Values & Purpose Journal	3	3	5	2	5	18	Cheap companion to PB-002; was in the report's BN-02, deferred
PB-009	Kaizen Habit Floor Cards	3	4	5	1	5	18	Tiny build; strong free or $5 add-on to PB-004

ID	Name	D	G	E	P	F	Total	One-line reasoning
PB-011	Time Audit Week	3	4	5	1	5	18	Second free magnet, feeding PB-001
PB-025	Undated Kaizen Digital Planner	3	4	3	3	5	18	Tablet-first; hold until Etsy research resumes
PB-027	Gentle Reset Week	4	3	4	2	5	18	The kind answer to 7-Day Reset; overlaps PB-001, so sequence carefully
PB-012	Decision Compass	2	4	5	1	5	17	Values-weighted decision sheet; good newsletter freebie
PB-016	Spending 80/20 Audit	3	4	4	2	4	17	Links our method to money; needs the disclaimer discipline
PB-018	Couples' Money Meeting Kit	2	5	4	3	3	17	Unserved in English; inspired by a Korean seller's feature
PB-021	Stop / Start / Keep Monthly	3	3	5	1	5	17	Free magnet into PB-005
PB-023	Core Values Sort	3	3	5	1	5	17	Extract from PB-002's Part 1; near-zero marginal build
PB-024	Compass Tablet Journal	3	3	4	3	4	17	A format tier, not a product — fold into PB-002 unless Etsy proves demand
PB-026	Compass System for Notion	5	1	3	4	4	17	High demand, no gap; only ever a tier of PB-002
PB-028	Goal & Habit Wall Set	3	4	5	1	4	17	The pin-up insight as a standalone; strong bundle sweetener
PB-030	Any-Day Restart Pack	2	4	4	2	5	17	Seasonal (January, September) repackaging of existing pages
PB-032	Focus Sprint Sheets	3	3	5	1	5	17	Refill pages for PB-001 buyers
PB-007	Money Clarity Ritual	5	2	3	3	3	16	Highest demand of any idea, weakest gap; needs Sheets skill
PB-020	Morning & Evening Pages	3	2	5	2	4	16	Commodity category; only as a companion
PB-029	Student Compass	3	3	4	2	4	16	Audience edition; wait until the core sells
PB-017	Budget Ritual Sheet	3	3	3	3	3	15	Sheets demand is real but off our core brand
PB-019	Pause-Before-You-Buy Checker	2	4	5	1	3	15	Free behavioural card; nice newsletter asset
PB-031	Monthly Money Review Journal	3	3	4	2	3	15	Companion to PB-007, so it waits for PB-007
PB-015	Money Map Starter	4	2	4	1	3	14	Free entry to a money line we haven't started

Deliberately not doing: dated all-in-one digital planners (Ease 1, Gap 1 — we'd be competing with 500-page Etsy planners at $5.57), standalone Notion trackers (Gap 1), and anything clinical-adjacent.

Launch product briefs

Seven full briefs in the `product-brief-format` template. Etsy titles are character-counted; all tag sets are 13 tags of ≤ 20 characters.

PB-001 — The Focus Audit

Field	Value
Category	80/20 focus audit (+ self audit)
Target buyer	25–45, overwhelmed knowledge worker or creator; trigger: a new quarter, “busy but stuck”
Job to be done	“I’m busy all day but nothing important moves.”
Positioned against	7-Day Reset (Poorav, $7, 2,272 sales — only its Day 3 is about focus) · time-boxing freebies (Anfernee) · Unlocking Hidden Hours ($89 time-audit book)
Our difference	The entire sprint is 80/20 — time, energy, task and input audits converging on a one-page Focus Charter · every page shown before purchase (7-Day Reset shows almost nothing and takes 7% 1★) · warm printable + tablet rather than a dark e-book · a pin-up charter
Evidence	7-Day Reset 2,272 × $7 with an 80/20 Day 3 (sample edition; <code>research/categories/gumroad-categories.md</code> §self audit) · no named Pareto/focus-audit product exists on Gumroad (category analysis) · STRONGLAND buyers pin up printables
Formats	printable PDF (A4 + Letter) · hyperlinked tablet PDF · optional Notion tier
Dated / undated	undated
Size & orientation	A4 / US Letter portrait; tablet portrait 1620×2160
Page count (est.)	24
Price & tiers	$9 (launch $7 for two weeks) · Notion tier +$6 · in BN-02; anchor: the $89 time-audit book, named honestly in the FAQ
Opportunity score	Demand 3 · Gap 5 · Ease 5 · Price 3 · Fit 5 → 21/25
Bundle partners	PB-002, PB-003
Priority	Launch

Page list (in order)

- p. 1: Cover
- p. 2: Start here — seven days, twenty minutes
- p. 3: The map (the seven-day arc)
- p. 4: Baseline (4 scored questions)
- p. 5–6: Day 1 · Time audit — instruction + worked example, then a 16-row log
- p. 7–8: Day 2 · Energy audit — feeds/drains capture, then the energy map (2×2)

- p. 9–10: Day 3 · Task audit — 12-task capture, then the impact × effort matrix
- p. 11–12: Day 4 · Input audit — apps, people, content, then keep/mute/leave
- p. 13–14: Day 5 · The Vital Few — gather the four one-liners, then choose three
- p. 15–16: Day 6 · Cut, hand over, automate — plus “the hard one”
- p. 17–18: Day 7 · Your Focus Charter — plus “when it slips”
- p. 19–22: Weekly focus planner ×4
- p. 23: 30-day re-audit (re-scores the baseline)
- p. 24: Reflection + what’s next

Design direction

- Aesthetic tags: minimal-neutral, beige-latte, editorial
- Palette:  #FBF8F3 background ·  #3E6B89 primary ·  #D9A441 accent (this family’s colour) ·  #1F2A36 ink ·  #E4DCD0 stone
- Typography: Fraunces headings + italic accent line, Source Sans 3 body and prompts, IBM Plex Mono kickers and numbers
- Layout notes: 3-column grid, generous writing space at 7.5 mm, worked examples in stone boxes, ink-light version yes (≤8%)
- Navigation (digital): right-edge tab rail MAP · 1–7 · WEEKS · END ; every page reaches the map in one tap

Listing copy draft

- Etsy title (131 chars): 80/20 Focus Audit Printable, 7 Day Focus Sprint, Priority Planner, Pareto Worksheet, Time Audit, Digital & Printable PDF, A4 Letter
- Tags (13): focus audit · 80 20 rule planner · pareto worksheet · priority planner · time audit · energy audit · productivity sprint · focus planner · goal setting sheet · self audit printable · reset planner · goodnotes planner · printable workbook
- Gumroad name + summary: “The Focus Audit — find the 20% that moves your life” · “Seven days, twenty minutes a day, and one page you’ll actually keep.”
- Description outline: hook (“Busy all week, and the important thing still hasn’t moved”) → one-line definition → who it’s for / not for → what’s inside with counts → how it works in 3 steps → formats and compatibility → FAQ including “Is it worth $9?” → guarantee → next step (PB-002, BN-02)

Listing image plan (10 slots)

Slot	Role	Content & headline	Visual notes
1	HERO (16:9)	“Find the 20% that matters.”	Benefit line left, flat page stack right; readable at 220px
2	HERO (square thumbnail)	Brand kicker + the same line + 80/20 bar device	Own composition for the Discover grid; no device
3	INCL	Spec strip: 24 PAGES · 7 DAYS · 20 MIN A DAY · A4 + LETTER · UNDATED	Counts, mono type
4	FEAT	Impact × effort matrix anatomy, quadrants labelled	Callout lines naming each part
5	DEMO	The seven-day flow diagram	Our own arc drawing
6	PAGES	Day 1 log and Day 5 selection at full size	Prompts must be readable
7	COMPAT	Print vs tablet vs Notion   comparison	Honest — no fake gaps

Slot	Role	Content & headline	Visual notes
8	PAGES	The Focus Charter, pinned to a wall	The pin-up payoff
9	SIZE	Formats: A4 + Letter, ink-light, “works with GoodNotes and Notability”	Plain text only, no app logos
10	BUNDLE	BN-02 value: four products, honest maths	No struck-through fiction

Risks & open questions

- Demand is inferred from one adjacent product; $9 keeps the risk small.
- “Pareto” is a surname used descriptively — fine, but never claim endorsement.
- Overlaps PB-027 (Gentle Reset Week); don’t build both in the same season.

PB-002 — The Compass System

Field	Value
Category	Purpose compass + concise goal sheet + Kaizen planner
Target buyer	People resetting direction — new year, a birthday, a career change, a return to work. Explicitly not only solopreneurs
Job to be done	“I want my days to point somewhere that matters.”
Positioned against	My Ikigai (Anfernee, $17, 785 sales — solopreneur-framed, borrowed Venn, Notion-only) · Limitless OS ($99, Notion, dark) · Gamified Life OS (pop-culture IP)
Our difference	An original four-direction compass (Direction · Energy · Systems · Wellbeing) with a scoring wheel, replacing the copied ikigai Venn · for everyone, not for founders · print + tablet + Notion, where every competitor is Notion-only · a Restart Page, because the system is designed to survive bad months
Evidence	My Ikigai 785 × $17 with 5.0★ shows willingness to pay for purpose work, and the audit records it as Notion-only with a borrowed Venn (research/audits/gumroad-anferneek-my-ikigai.md) · Daniel Marthi’s buyers name the vision/values layer as the thing they valued (research/sellers/gumroad-S1-danielmarthi.md $G) · Life OS products lead Gumroad volume
Formats	printable PDF (A4 + Letter) · hyperlinked tablet PDF · Notion tier
Dated / undated	undated
Size & orientation	A4 / US Letter portrait; tablet portrait
Page count (est.)	60
Price & tiers	Core $19 · Complete + Notion $29 · in BN-02; launch $15 for two weeks
Opportunity score	Demand 3 · Gap 5 · Ease 3 · Price 4 · Fit 5 → 20/25
Bundle partners	PB-001, PB-003, PB-004, PB-005
Priority	Launch (flagship)

Page list (in order)

- p. 1–3: Cover · Start here · The map (four parts with time costs)
- p. 4–7: Part 1 Values — the 120-word bank, cut to fifteen, then five in your own words, then values in practice
- p. 8–9: The Compass — the four directions explained with a worked example, then the four-arm scored diagram
- p. 10–13: The four direction pages ×4 (Direction, Energy, Systems, Wellbeing — 4 guided questions each)
- p. 14–15: Vision build page, then the clean vision page (also ships as the standalone Compass Card)
- p. 16–18: Direction check, carry-forward, part divider
- p. 19–20: Part 2 — how goals work here, plus a fully worked example goal
- p. 21–24: Quarterly goal sheet ×4 (7 fields per goal, plus a “not this quarter” list)
- p. 25–28: 90-day roadmap ×4 (13 weeks × 3 goals, milestones at 4/8/12)
- p. 29–30: Quarter kickoff checklist · the standing “not doing” page
- p. 31–33: Part 3 — the 1% idea and the Kaizen loop, how to use the log, design your three habits (ideal + floor)
- p. 34–45: The 1% log ×12 (one month per page, three-state marks)
- p. 46: The Restart Page
- p. 47–59: Weekly review ×13
- p. 60: Quarterly reflection + letter to your future self + what’s next

Design direction

- Aesthetic tags: minimal-neutral, editorial, sage-earthy
- Palette:  #FBF8F3 background ·  #3E6B89 primary (this family’s colour) ·  #D9A441 accent ·  #1F2A36 ink ·  #7C9A7E support
- Typography: Fraunces + italic accent, Source Sans 3, IBM Plex Mono; one section colour per part applied only to kickers and rules
- Layout notes: 3-column grid; one framework per page; worked examples in stone; ink-light yes
- Navigation (digital): tab rail with four part tabs and sub-tabs; compass arms are hotspots to their direction pages; the Restart Page is reachable from every Part 3 page

Listing copy draft

- Etsy title (129 chars): Purpose Compass Planner, Life Goals Workbook, Values Worksheet, Quarterly Review, Undated Goal Planner, Goodnotes & Printable PDF
- Tags (13): purpose planner · values worksheet · goal workbook · life planner undated · quarterly review · vision planner · self discovery · reflection journal · kaizen planner · one page plan · goal setting planner · goodnotes planner · printable planner
- Gumroad name + summary: “The Compass System — purpose, goals and 1% days” · “Point your life somewhere, then live it a day at a time.”
- Description outline: hook → definition → who it’s for / not for (“not for you if you want an app that reminds you”) → what’s inside with counts → the four parts and their time costs → formats and compatibility → FAQ including “Is it worth $19?” and “Do I need Notion?” → guarantee → bundle

Listing image plan (10 slots)

Slot	Role	Content & headline	Visual notes
1	HERO (16:9)	“Point your life somewhere.”	Compass device + page stack

Slot	Role	Content & headline	Visual notes
2	HERO (square)	Kicker + benefit + compass icon	Brass marker, no device mockup
3	INCL	60 PAGES · 4 PARTS · A FULL YEAR · PRINT + TABLET + NOTION	Spec strip
4	FEAT	Compass anatomy — the four directions with callouts	Our diagram, never the ikigai Venn
5	DEMO	The system arc: values → compass → goals → 1% → review	One flow, one colour
6	PAGES	Goal sheet and 1% log at full size	Readable prompts and the worked example
7	FEAT	The Restart Page	The emotional hook — show it, competitors have nothing like it
8	COMPAT	Tiers: print vs tablet vs Notion  	Honest comparison
9	SIZE	A4 + Letter, ink-light, app compatibility as plain text	No Notion logo
10	BUNDLE	BN-02	Honest saving

Risks & open questions

- Biggest build (46 h). Don't start it before PB-001 and PB-003 have validated the page system.
- 60 pages risks the “unmanageable” complaint that sinks competitors’ ratings — mitigated by the “if you only do one part” line and stated time costs.
- Renamed from “Life Compass OS” on the conflict screen; confirm the new name with the owner.

PB-003 — The Balance Audit

Field	Value
Category	Self audit
Target buyer	Anyone feeling “off” who wants a clear picture and a plan — not a diagnosis
Job to be done	“Show me where my life is out of balance, and what to do first.”
Positioned against	Daniel Marthi's free self-audit Notion template ($0 + $99 upgrade, 2,278 claims — and its listing never shows a wheel at all) · Easlo's free equivalent · The M.E.A.N. Workbook ($47, 4,475 sales, clinical-adjacent, zero interior previews)
Our difference	A big, legible eight-area wheel as the hero and the payoff page · guided questions so the scores are earned, not guessed · a gap map that ranks by cost of leaving it , not by lowest score · three standing rules · a 30-day plan · twelve monthly re-scores so the buyer watches the shape change over a year · strictly non-clinical, with disclaimers the $47 competitor lacks
Evidence	The category leader's listing shows a score gallery and no radial chart (<code>research/assets/gumroad/danielmarthi/wheeloflife/_sheet.png</code> ; <code>research/sellers/gumroad-S1-danielmarthi.md</code> $G: “the self-audit category leader has no wheel graphic”) · M.E.A.N. $47 × 4,475 proves paid self-audit workbooks sell · our thumbnail test shows no seller displays a wheel
Formats	printable PDF (A4 + Letter) · hyperlinked tablet PDF · Notion tier (auto-radar)

Field	Value
Dated / undated	undated
Size & orientation	A4 / US Letter portrait; tablet portrait
Page count (est.)	20
Price & tiers	$12 print + tablet · $19 with the Notion tier · in BN-02
Opportunity score	Demand 4 · Gap 4 · Ease 4 · Price 4 · Fit 5 → 21/25
Bundle partners	PB-002, PB-022 (its free funnel)
Priority	Launch

The self-audit category leader's listing — a tablet, a score list, and no wheel anywhere

Page list (in order)

- p. 1–2: Cover · Start here (the three honesty rules + disclaimer)
- p. 3: The eight areas defined (wording identical to PB-022)
- p. 4–11: The eight area pages ×8 — four guided questions, “what a 9 looks like”, the score, and “why that number”
- p. 12: Your wheel — the full-page eight-spoke diagram
- p. 13: The gap map — ranked by the cost of leaving it
- p. 14: Choose three areas
- p. 15: Standing rules (if-then, with worked examples)
- p. 16–17: The 30-day plan · what usually stops you
- p. 18–19: Monthly re-score ×12 (mini-wheels)
- p. 20: Reflection + what’s next

Design direction

- Aesthetic tags: minimal-neutral, editorial, sage-earthy
- Palette: ○ #FBF8F3 background · ● #3E6B89 primary (wheel strokes) · ● #D9A441 accent (the lowest-area marker) · ● #1F2A36 ink · ● #E4DCD0 stone
- Typography: Fraunces titles, Source Sans 3 prompts, IBM Plex Mono for every score and scale

- Layout notes: 2-column grid; the wheel is full-width and must read in greyscale; mini-wheels drop ring labels to survive print
- Navigation (digital): tab rail; wheel spokes and gap-map rows are hotspots back to their area pages

Listing copy draft

- Etsy title (127 chars): Life Balance Audit Printable, 8 Area Self Assessment Workbook, Balance Wheel Chart, Monthly Re-Score, Goodnotes & Printable PDF
- Tags (13): life audit · balance wheel · self assessment · life balance chart · self audit printable · life areas worksheet · personal growth tool · reflection worksheet · goal setting sheet · monthly review · coaching worksheet · goodnotes planner · printable workbook
- Gumroad name + summary: “The Balance Audit — see your life at a glance” · “Eight areas, one picture, and the one thing to do first.”
- Description outline: hook → definition → who it’s for / not for → what’s inside with counts → how it works in 3 steps → the non-clinical statement → formats → FAQ including “Is this a personality test?” (no) → guarantee → next step

Listing image plan (10 slots)

Slot	Role	Content & headline	Visual notes
1	HERO (16:9)	“See your life at a glance.”	The wheel, large and filled in — the thing no competitor shows
2	HERO (square)	Kicker + benefit + wheel device	Instantly identifiable at 220px
3	INCL	20 PAGES · 8 AREAS · 12 MONTHLY RE-SCORES · PRINT + TABLET + NOTION	Spec strip
4	FEAT	Area-page anatomy with callouts	Shows the guided questions are real
5	DEMO	A hand-marked wheel, real pen	Proves it’s usable on paper
6	PAGES	Gap map and standing rules at full size	Readable prompts
7	FEAT	The twelve mini-wheels — “a year of shapes”	The retention promise, visualised
8	COMPAT	Print vs tablet vs Notion  	Honest
9	SIZE	A4 + Letter, ink-light, apps as plain text	—
10	BUNDLE	BN-02	—

Risks & open questions

- Trademark: “Wheel of Life” is banned in the name, title, tags, headers and image text (see Risks). The tags above use “balance wheel” and “coaching worksheet” — both should be reviewed by a lawyer before the Etsy launch; the Gumroad launch does not depend on them.
- Must stay non-clinical: satisfaction and attention, never symptoms.

PB-004 — The 90-Day Kaizen Program

Field	Value
Category	Goal workbook + Kaizen planner
Target buyer	People who start strong and stall by week three
Job to be done	“Help me keep going on the bad weeks.”
Positioned against	Live Intentionally: 90 Day Self-Improvement Program (STRONGLAND, $19.99, 13,089 sales — ~300 pages of text, male-coded and shaming, with medical claims, whose workbook only appears in a buyer's photograph) · Annual Operating System (Ideas To Thrive, $49, HTML app)
Our difference	Kind but firm, and inclusive · floor / ideal versions of every habit and a Restart Page designed for failure · a day-21 checkpoint, because buyers say that's where it breaks · a beautifully designed A3 wall tracker as a headline deliverable · every page shown · behavioural claims only, never medical
Evidence	Live Intentionally 13,089 × $19.99 ≈ $266k and 95% 5★ proves the format (research/audits/gumroad-lifemathmoney-tough.md) · buyer quotes: “The worksheet provided with purchase is a simple, yet effective touch”, “Hang it up on my office”, “the first 21 days were very hard for me” · the same audit records that the interior is never shown · AOS's floor/recovery principle (research/audits/gumroad-ideastothrive-aos.md)
Formats	printable workbook (A4 + Letter) · A3 + A4/Letter wall tracker · hyperlinked tablet PDF · cut-out restart card
Dated / undated	undated — start any day
Size & orientation	A4 / US Letter portrait; A3 poster; tablet portrait
Page count (est.)	70
Price & tiers	$24 (launch $19) · in BN-02
Opportunity score	Demand 4 · Gap 4 · Ease 3 · Price 4 · Fit 5 → 20/25
Bundle partners	PB-002, PB-005
Priority	Launch

Page list (in order)

- p. 1–3: Cover · Start here · The map (three phases, checkpoints at 21/45/90)
- p. 4–5: Diagnostic (8 scored statements) + the read-out that routes you to the right pages
- p. 6–7: Choose three habits + why these
- p. 8–10: Floor, ideal, zero — the method with a worked example, the three design blocks, and “make it easier than it needs to be”
- p. 11–12: Environment and people · The contract (with the start date and day-21 and day-90 dates filled in)
- p. 13: How to use the wall tracker
- p. 14–16: Phase 1 divider + days 1–21
- p. 17–18: Day 21 checkpoint + habit redesign
- p. 19–24: Phase 2 divider + days 22–60 + two mid-phase reflections
- p. 25–26: Day 45 checkpoint
- p. 27–32: Phase 3 divider + days 61–90

- p. 33: The Restart Page
- p. 34–36: Day 90 review · what happens on day 91
- p. 37–49: Weekly Kaizen review ×13
- p. 50–69: Spares — blank design blocks, spare trackers, notes
- p. 70: Colophon and changelog

Design direction

- Aesthetic tags: minimal-neutral, editorial, sage-earthly
- Palette:  #FBF8F3 background ·  #7C9A7E support (this family's colour) ·  #D9A441 accent (milestones only) ·  #1F2A36 ink ·  #E4DCD0 stone
- Typography: Fraunces titles, Source Sans 3 body, IBM Plex Mono for all day numbers and counts
- Layout notes: 7 mm tracker rows; three-state glyphs (● ◐ ○) drawn as vectors; the wall tracker prints the floor version beside each habit name so it's visible at the moment of marking
- Navigation (digital): tab rail; the Restart Page links from every day and review page

Listing copy draft

- Etsy title (132 chars): 90 Day Habit Program Workbook, Kaizen Planner, Wall Habit Tracker Poster, Floor Habits, Undated, Goodnotes & Printable PDF A4 Letter
- Tags (13): 90 day planner · kaizen planner · habit tracker · habit workbook · wall tracker · self improvement · 90 day challenge · habit poster · goal workbook · undated planner · daily habit log · goodnotes planner · printable workbook
- Gumroad name + summary: “The 90-Day Kaizen Program” · “Small steps, kept — especially on the bad weeks.”
- Description outline: hook (“You don’t need more motivation. You need a version of the habit that survives a bad week.”) → definition → who it’s for / not for → what’s inside with counts → the three phases and their time costs → what this is not (not medical, not a fitness plan) → formats → FAQ including “Is it worth $24?” and “Can I start in the middle of a month?” → guarantee → bundle

Listing image plan (10 slots)

Slot	Role	Content & headline	Visual notes
1	HERO (16:9)	“Small steps, kept.”	The wall tracker, pinned up and partly filled — the competitor’s best proof is a buyer’s snapshot of a plain grid
2	HERO (square)	Kicker + benefit + Kaizen loop device	Sage accent
3	INCL	70 PAGES · 90 DAYS · A3 WALL TRACKER · PRINT + TABLET · START ANY DAY	Spec strip
4	FEAT	Floor / ideal / zero anatomy with the worked example	The core mechanism
5	FEAT	The Restart Page	Nobody else has this
6	PAGES	Day-21 checkpoint and a weekly review	Readable prompts
7	DEMO	“The maths of a real season”: 62 ideal + 21 floor = 83 of 90	Resets perfectionism

Slot	Role	Content & headline	Visual notes
8	PAGES	The three phases at a glance	Our arc diagram
9	SIZE	A4 + Letter + A3, ink-light, apps as plain text	—
10	BUNDLE	BN-02	—

Risks & open questions

- “Kaizen” needs the owner’s legal check before print. Fallback name: “The 90-Day Program: small steps, kept.”
- No medical claims anywhere, including sample habits — no calorie targets, no weight goals, no medication routines. This is the exact risk the category leader carries.
- Biggest page count after PB-002; the spares section (pp. 50–69) is intentionally cheap to produce.

PB-005 — The Review Ritual

Field	Value
Category	Reflective planning
Target buyer	Planners who never look back; people who want a calm Sunday routine
Job to be done	“Help me learn from my weeks instead of repeating them.”
Positioned against	Atul’s free Reflection Journals (Notion, 3,675 claims, thin) · Heyismail’s journal (2 prompts) · free monthly-review templates
Our difference	A cascade — each review reads the level below it, so the yearly review is almost written by the time you reach it · 52 original rotating questions , one per week, so the ritual doesn’t go stale · undated, start any week · print + tablet with a 52-cell week index
Evidence	Atul’s Reflection Journals 3,675 claims show appetite for reflection tools (research/sellers/gumroad-04-atulacleave .md) · reflection is missing or shallow at Heyismail, Organized dashboard and Easlo (report §Category analysis: “structured review cycles” named as the gap) · Atul’s daily → weekly → monthly ladder is recorded as a principle to borrow
Formats	printable PDF (A4 + Letter) · hyperlinked tablet PDF · optional Notion tier
Dated / undated	undated
Size & orientation	A4 / US Letter portrait; tablet portrait
Page count (est.)	80
Price & tiers	$15 · in a future reflection bundle
Opportunity score	Demand 3 · Gap 4 · Ease 4 · Price 3 · Fit 5 → 19/25
Bundle partners	PB-002, PB-003
Priority	Launch — wave 2 (weeks 13–15)

Page list (in order)

- p. 1–2: Cover · Start here
- p. 3: The cascade explained (week → month → quarter → year)
- p. 4: How to make it stick
- p. 5–56: Weekly review ×52 — five fixed prompts plus one rotating question per week
- p. 57–68: Monthly review ×12 — each names the four weeks to re-read first
- p. 69–72: Quarterly review ×4
- p. 73–78: The annual review (timeline, the shape of it, the people, the work, what I learned, what's next)
- p. 79: Letter to next year
- p. 80: Colophon + what's next

Design direction

- Aesthetic tags: minimal-neutral, editorial
- Palette:  #FBF8F3 background ·  #3E6B89 primary ·  #E4DCD0 stone (this family's colour) ·  #1F2A36 ink ·  #D9A441 accent (sparingly)
- Typography: Fraunces titles, Source Sans 3 prompts, IBM Plex Mono week numbers
- Layout notes: a fixed 2-column grid across 52 near-identical pages, with the rotating question in a stone box as the single varying element; undated throughout
- Navigation (digital): a 52-cell week index (a linear rail is unusable at this length) plus cascade links in both directions

Listing copy draft

- Etsy title (128 chars): Weekly Review Planner Undated, Monthly Quarterly Yearly Reflection Journal, 52 Week Prompts, Goodnotes & Printable PDF A4 Letter
- Tags (13): weekly review · reflection journal · monthly review · quarterly review · year in review · journal prompts · undated planner · sunday reset · self reflection · review template · planner insert · goodnotes planner · printable journal
- Gumroad name + summary: “The Review Ritual — weekly to yearly” · “Learn from your weeks instead of repeating them.”
- Description outline: hook → the cascade idea in two lines → who it's for / not for → what's inside with counts → time costs per level → formats → FAQ including “Do I need the other products?” (no) → guarantee → next step

Listing image plan (10 slots)

Slot	Role	Content & headline	Visual notes
1	HERO (16:9)	“Learn from your weeks.”	The cascade diagram — the whole differentiation in one image
2	HERO (square)	Kicker + benefit + cascade device	—
3	INCL	80 PAGES · 52 WEEKS · 12 MONTHS · 4 QUARTERS · UNDATED	Spec strip
4	FEAT	Cascade anatomy: what each level reads	—
5	PAGES	A weekly page at full size, prompts readable	The product's core artefact
6	FEAT	The rotating question — four examples	Shows the 52 are real and original

Slot	Role	Content & headline	Visual notes
7	NAV	The 52-cell week index on a tablet	Proves the navigation works
8	PAGES	Monthly and annual review pages	—
9	SIZE	A4 + Letter, ink-light, apps as plain text	—
10	BUNDLE	Cross-sell to PB-002 and PB-003	—

Risks & open questions

- The 52 questions must be written before layout begins (3 h budgeted) — they are the product.
- Highest page count for the lowest price; justified as retention, not margin.
- Risk of monotony across 52 pages; mitigated by the rotating question and by a deliberately fixed grid.

PB-006 — The One-Page Year (free)

Field	Value
Category	Concise goal sheet
Target buyer	Anyone who wants a year on one page — and our first contact with them
Job to be done	“Put my year on one page.”
Positioned against	Free OKR and goal trackers (Chris’s OKR tracker: 20,365 claims) · Ideas To Thrive’s free kits, which the research describes as looking like web forms
Our difference	A beautifully typeset one-pager rather than a plain worksheet — vision line, three goals, why, first steps and a floor habit · it introduces the brand’s whole method in five blocks · honest: “this free page is the whole page”
Evidence	Free tools drive Gumroad reach and ratings (Chris OKR 20,365 claims; Easlo’s free trackers with thousands of ratings) · Ideas To Thrive’s free kits are visually weak (research/sellers/gumroad-S3-ideastothrive.md §G: “free kits look like web forms”)
Formats	printable PDF (A4 + Letter) · tablet page
Dated / undated	undated
Size & orientation	A4 / US Letter portrait
Page count	2
Price & tiers	$0 with an optional “support $3” · upgrade path: PB-002
Opportunity score	Demand 3 · Gap 4 · Ease 5 · Price 1 · Fit 4 → 17/25
Bundle partners	— (funnel into PB-002)
Priority	Launch (free)

Page list: p. 1 The One-Page Year (five blocks: the sentence · three goals · why these · the first step · the floor) · p. 2 How to use it + what’s next.

Design direction: minimal-neutral editorial; ○ #FBF8F3 · ● #1F2A36 · ● #3E6B89 · ● #D9A441 ; Fraunces + Source Sans 3 + IBM Plex Mono; one page, generous white space, ink-light; no navigation needed.

Listing copy draft

- Etsy title (121 chars): One Page Goal Sheet Printable, Year on One Page, Goal Planner Free Download, Undated, Goodnotes & Printable PDF A4 Letter
- Tags (13): one page plan · goal sheet · goal planner · yearly goals · undated planner · minimalist planner · goal setting · new year planner · vision sheet · printable planner · goodnotes planner · habit floor · planner printable
- Gumroad name + summary: “The One-Page Year” · “One page you’ll actually look at.”

Listing image plan (10 slots): 1 HERO “Your year, on one page.” · 2 square thumbnail · 3 INCL spec strip (2 PAGES · A4 + LETTER · UNDATED · FREE) · 4 PAGES the sheet at full size with readable prompts · 5 DEMO a filled-in copy in real handwriting · 6 FEAT the five blocks explained · 7 DEMO pinned above a desk · 8 SIZE formats and compatibility · 9 HOWTO “download, print, five minutes” · 10 BUNDLE the honest upgrade path to PB-002.

Risks & open questions: free products build ratings only if buyers are asked to rate — include a polite request in the delivery file. Gumroad caps free products at 250 MB, which this comfortably meets.

PB-022 — The 10-Minute Life Audit (free)

Field	Value
Category	Self audit
Target buyer	Someone who senses something is off and wants a ten-minute read on it
Job to be done	“Give me a quick, honest picture — and one thing to do.”
Positioned against	Daniel Marthi’s free self-audit template (2,278 claims, no wheel shown) · Ideas To Thrive’s free life-audit kit (202 downloads, web-form styling)
Our difference	It shows the wheel — the free product already delivers the visual the paid category leader never displays · guided scoring, a real diagram, and one action · a genuine standalone tool, not a teaser
Evidence	The category leader’s free template has 2,278 claims and no wheel graphic (research/sellers/gumroad-S1-danielmarthi.md §G) · free self-audit kits attract downloads at a new shop (Ideas To Thrive’s Ungoverned Life Audit Kit, 202)
Formats	printable PDF (A4 + Letter) · tablet PDF
Dated / undated	undated
Size & orientation	A4 / US Letter portrait
Page count	4
Price & tiers	$0 · upgrade path: PB-003
Opportunity score	Demand 4 · Gap 4 · Ease 5 · Price 1 · Fit 5 → 19/25

Field	Value
Bundle partners	— (funnel into PB-003)
Priority	Launch (free)

Page list: p. 1 Start here (scope + disclaimer) · p. 2 The eight areas, scored · p. 3 Your wheel · p. 4 One small move + what's next.

Design direction: minimal-neutral editorial;  #FBF8F3 ·  #1F2A36 ·  #3E6B89 wheel strokes ·  #D9A441 lowest-area marker; Fraunces + Source Sans 3 + IBM Plex Mono; the wheel is the hero of page 3 and must read in greyscale; linear links only.

Listing copy draft

- Etsy title (123 chars): Life Audit Scorecard Printable, 10 Minute Self Assessment, 8 Life Areas Checklist, Free Download, Goodnotes & Printable PDF
- Tags (13): life audit · self assessment · life areas · balance wheel · self reflection · personal growth · audit printable · scorecard · free printable · goal setting sheet · reflection sheet · goodnotes planner · printable worksheet
- Gumroad name + summary: “The 10-Minute Life Audit” · “A clear picture, then one small move.”

Listing image plan (10 slots): 1 HERO “Ten minutes. One clear picture.” with the wheel · 2 square thumbnail · 3 INCL spec strip (4 PAGES · 8 AREAS · 10 MINUTES · FREE) · 4 PAGES the wheel page full-bleed · 5 DEMO a hand-marked wheel · 6 PAGES the scoring page, prompts readable · 7 FEAT “one small move” page · 8 SIZE formats · 9 HOWTO how to score honestly · 10 BUNDLE the honest upgrade to PB-003.

Risks & open questions: the same trademark ban applies — never “Wheel of Life” in any asset. The eight area definitions must be word-for-word identical to PB-003's, so the free and paid products agree.

Bundles & pricing

BN-02 — The Life Direction Set

Includes: PB-001 + PB-002 + PB-003 + PB-004 · Price $49 (sum of parts $64, saves 23%) · Story: audit where you are, point yourself somewhere, then live it ninety days at a time · Hero concept: the four covers as a flat fanned stack on warm paper, with the compass device above and one line — “The whole method.”

NOTE Changed from the research report. The report proposed BN-02 as PB-002 + PB-003 + PB-005 + PB-008 at $49. PB-008 isn't in the launch set and PB-005 lands in wave 2, so the bundle is recomposed from the four paid launch products. The price holds at $49 because the sum of parts is similar ($64 vs $55) and the evidence says the price point, not the contents, is what makes bundles sell.

BN-01 (Clarity & Growth Set: PB-001 + PB-002, $24 against $28) is defined but held back — at a 14% saving it mostly cannibalises BN-02. Launch it only if BN-02 proves too big a jump.

BN-03 (Money Clarity Set) stays in the backlog until a money product exists.

Pricing rationale

Decision	Evidence
Entry at $9–12	Guided PDF products sit at $7–$47; 7-Day Reset $7 × 2,272 and My Ikigai $17 × 785 bracket our range
Flagship at $19 , Notion tier $29	Live Intentionally $19.99 × 13,089 is the best-selling guided PDF in the study; Maria Whitsett's $27 Notion planner did 16,735. $19/$29 sits inside both
Program at $24	Priced above the $19.99 comparable because ours includes a designed wall tracker and 70 designed pages, and below $29 to stay impulse-adjacent
Bundle at $49	Cheap bundles outsell expensive ones: Daniel Marthi $29 → 204 sales; Heyismail $325 → 111, $159 → 82; Rosidssoy $149 → 21
Launch discounts of ~20% for two weeks, then they end	Anchoring is common but usually dishonest — permanent “50% off Black Friday” labels and stale sale banners appear across several shops. A discount that actually expires is a differentiator
A stated guarantee	Guarantees are rare — only Daniel Marthi, STRONGLAND and one Atul product offer one, and most shops say “No refunds”. Recommendation [Assumption]: a plain 30-day, no-questions refund , which also fits Gumroad's own policy expectations
No $79–$149 tier	Those prices exist only where the seller has an audience (Easlo, Chris, Daniel Marthi). We have none yet

Revenue scenarios — planning arithmetic, not forecasts

WARNING These are scenarios, not predictions. The only observed inputs are competitors' sales counts. Everything else is an assumption, stated below. No market-size number has been invented, and none should be quoted as research.

Assumptions: (a) we start with no audience — the single biggest constraint; (b) the closest comparable new shop, Ideas To Thrive, reached 251 sales on its $49 flagship in about eight months with a YouTube and newsletter funnel, and 104–387 downloads per free kit; (c) free-to-paid conversion of 2% / 5% / 10%, the report's stated range; (d) average order value rises with a ~15% bundle attach rate; (e) Gumroad fees of roughly 10% plus payment processing — verify current fees before modelling seriously.

Scenario	Free claims, year 1	Paid units, year 1	Avg order value	Gross	Assumption that drives it
Low	400	120	$16	≈ $1,900	No content channel; Discover traffic only; ratings accumulate slowly
Base	1,500	500	$19	≈ $9,500	One consistent content channel; free products rank; bundle attaches
High	5,000	1,600	$22	≈ $35,000	A channel that actually compounds, plus one product catching Discover

What the scenarios really say: even the high case is a side income in year one, and the difference between low and high is almost entirely audience, not product quality. That is the clearest strategic message in the whole research: Gumroad winners are audience-led. Hence Open question Q4.

Build specs overview

One spec per launch product, written for a designer to build from without asking follow-up questions: deliverables, page setup, every page with its full prompt and instruction text, hyperlink maps, assets, hour estimates and QA checklists.

ID	Product	Spec file	Pages	Formats	Est. hours
PB-006	The One-Page Year	specs/PB-006 The One-Page Year.md	2	print + tablet	6
PB-022	The 10-Minute Life Audit	specs/PB-022 The 10-Minute Life Audit.md	4	print + tablet	8
PB-001	The Focus Audit	specs/PB-001 The Focus Audit.md	24	print + tablet (+Notion)	26
PB-003	The Balance Audit	specs/PB-003 The Balance Audit.md	20	print + tablet + Notion	23 (+6 Notion)
PB-002	The Compass System	specs/PB-002 The Compass System.md	60	print + tablet + Notion	46 (+10 Notion)
PB-004	The 90-Day Kaizen Program	specs/PB-004 The 90-Day Kaizen Program.md	70 + A3 poster	print + tablet	42
PB-005	The Review Ritual	specs/PB-005 The Review Ritual.md	80	print + tablet (+Notion)	34 (+6 Notion)
—	Brand identity assets (wordmark, icon set, mockup templates, master grid)	brand-kit.md	—	—	16
—	Listing images, 10 slots × 7 products	per-brief image plans	—	—	26
—	Gumroad listing setup, copy, FAQs, delivery files	plan $Listings	—	—	10
				Total	237 h
				+ all three Notion tiers	+22 h

Shared assets built once and reused (already netted off the totals above): the eight-area wheel (PB-022 → PB-003), the four-direction compass (PB-002), the Kaizen loop (PB-002 → PB-004), three-state glyphs, the tab-rail component, the master grid and type styles, and the spec-strip system.

Sequencing logic: the cheap products build the components the expensive ones reuse. PB-022 builds the wheel that PB-003 needs; PB-001 proves the page system before PB-002 commits 46 hours to it.

Listings & launch plan

Gumroad listing mechanics — every product

- A 16:9 benefit hero and a separate square thumbnail (they are different compositions, not crops)
- The full 10-slot image set
- A description following the structure the research found converts: benefit H1 → one-line definition → who it's for / not for → what's inside with counts → how it works in 3 steps → formats and compatibility → FAQ → guarantee → next step
- An FAQ that names the price objection directly (“Is it worth $19?”) — the highest-converting shop in the study does this on every listing
- A stated guarantee and a changelog line with a real “last updated” date
- A polite rating request in the delivery file — review capture is the cheapest ranking lever we have: the $47 category leader collects roughly 1 rating per 97 sales
- “Works with GoodNotes, Notability and Notion” as plain text; never a logo or badge

Launch calendar

Week	Build	Launch	Notes
1	Brand identity assets, master grid, type styles	—	The 16 h that everything else reuses
2	PB-006 (6 h) + PB-022 (8 h)	Soft launch both free products	Two listings live; the wheel asset now exists
3	PB-001 (26 h)	—	—
4	PB-001 listing images + copy	Launch PB-001 at $7 (20% launch price)	First milestone: three listings live, first ratings
5–6	PB-003 (23 h) + images	Launch PB-003 at $9	Free → paid funnel now complete on the audit side
7–9	PB-002 (46 h) + images	Launch PB-002 at $15	The flagship; discount ends after two weeks
10–11	PB-004 (42 h) + images	Launch PB-004 at $19	Wall tracker becomes the hero image
12	BN-02 assembly + bundle hero	Launch BN-02 at $49	Cross-sell link added to all four paid listings
13–15	PB-005 (34 h) + images	Launch PB-005 at $15	Wave 2; retention product
16	First review drive + the first three experiments	—	See below

Discount and anchoring plan: each product launches at roughly 20% off for exactly two weeks, then the price rises to list and stays there. No permanent sales, no struck-through prices we never charged, no seasonal banners left up past their date. The bundle is anchored honestly against the sum of its parts ($64 → $49) and the maths is shown.

The lead-magnet funnel

Free product → Gumroad email capture → a five-email welcome sequence → the matching paid product. The two free products point at different paid products, so the funnel branches rather than competing with itself.

Five-email welcome sequence (outline):

1. Delivery + one instruction. The file, plus a single line on how to actually use it today. No pitch. A polite rating request at the bottom.
2. Day 2 — the method behind the page. Explain the floor idea, or the honest-scoring rules. Pure value; teach the mechanism we named.
3. Day 4 — a worked example. One real, specific example of the tool in use, including where it went wrong. This is the trust email.
4. Day 7 — the natural next step. Introduce the matching paid product with its honest limits (“this is paper and PDF”), the launch price if one is live, and the guarantee.
5. Day 14 — the ritual. How to make the habit stick without buying anything, plus one cross-link and a genuine question asking what they’re struggling with (this is our only source of buyer voice, since Gumroad gives us none).

Content angles

The research is unambiguous that Gumroad winners are audience-led, and our revenue scenarios turn almost entirely on this. Angles that suit the brand and reuse work already done:

- “Show the page” — a single page of a product, explained: what it asks and why. Endlessly repeatable, and it doubles as listing-image work.
- “The floor” — short posts on the smallest version of a habit that still counts. This is our most distinctive idea and the one buyers respond to.
- “What the tracker doesn’t tell you” — gently contrarian pieces on why trackers without a review ritual fail. Positions us against the whole category without naming anyone.
- “A year of shapes” — the twelve mini-wheels concept, shown over time. Visual, and it sells PB-003 on sight.
- “Restart” — content published deliberately in mid-February and late September, when people have already fallen off.

Success metrics

Metric	Why	First target [Assumption]
Ratings per sale	Drives Discover ranking; competitors run ~1:20 to 1:97	Better than 1:20
Free claims per week	The top of everything	30+ by week 8
Free → paid conversion	The whole business model	≥2% (the report’s low case)
Bundle attach rate	Tests the $49 price	≥10% of paid orders
Refund rate	Guarantee risk	<3%
Email list growth and reply rate	Our only buyer-voice channel	Any replies at all in month 1

The first three experiments

1. Free tier inside the paid listing vs a separate free listing. Run PB-003 with a $0 tier for four weeks, against PB-001's clean paid listing. Measure claims, paid conversion and rating velocity. This settles Open question Q3 with our own data instead of competitors'.
2. Thumbnail A/B on PB-003: the benefit-line formula against the wheel-as-hero formula. The research says warm editorial thumbnails are unclaimed, but it can't tell us which of our own compositions wins.
3. Price test on PB-001: $9 against $12. The category has no named competitor, so there is no observed price anchor — we have to find it ourselves.

Risks & compliance

Originality — how each product differs from what it's positioned against

Product	Positioned against	Concrete difference
PB-001	7-Day Reset (1 focus day)	The whole sprint is 80/20, across four audit types, ending in a charter; every page shown
PB-002	My Ikigai (solopreneur, borrowed Venn)	Our own four-direction framework and diagram; for everyone; print + tablet + Notion
PB-003	Free self-audit templates; M.E.A.N. ($47)	We show the wheel; guided questions; gap map ranked by cost; 12 re-scores; non-clinical with disclaimers
PB-004	Live Intentionally (~300pp text, no interior shown)	Designed workbook + A3 wall tracker; floors and restarts; inclusive, behavioural claims only
PB-005	Free reflection templates	The cascade; 52 original rotating questions; undated
PB-006 / PB-022	Competitors' plain free kits	Designed, complete, honest about being complete

All page copy, prompts and questions in the specs are written by us. Principles are borrowed; wording, layouts and artwork never are. No competitor phrasing appears in any deliverable.

Intellectual property — the hard rules

WARNING Banned outright from names, titles, tags, page headers, sample content, image text, file names and alt text: Getting Things Done / GTD · PARA / Building a Second Brain · 12 Week Year · Bullet Journal · Atomic Habits · “That Girl” · 75 Hard · WOOP · Mandalart · Solo Leveling · Seinfeld calendar · Wheel of Life · the Notion logo and any “Made for Notion” badge.

The two findings from our own screens:

1. WHEEL OF LIFE® is a live US registration (Reg. 3918518, Ser. 77779648), originally Meyer Resource Group Inc., now Success Motivation International, Inc., covering books, booklets, manuals and printed instructional materials relating to personal development, self-motivation and improvement, goal setting, planning, leadership and management — our exact goods. First use claimed 1996. PB-003 was renamed from “The Balance Wheel Audit” to The Balance Audit, and the phrase is banned throughout. The tags “balance wheel” and “coaching worksheet” are retained for later Etsy use but flagged for legal review — the Gumroad launch does not depend on them.
2. “Life Compass” is crowded and clinically associated — multiple Etsy listings, at least one Gumroad product, a “Life Compass Planner” line, and it is the name of an ACT (therapy) values-clarification worksheet. PB-002 was renamed from “Life Compass OS” to The Compass System.

Still to be checked by the owner before print: “Kaizen” (generic Japanese word; marks exist in unrelated classes — no Class 16 planner registration surfaced, but our screen is not clearance) and the brand name “Quiet Compass” itself.

Fonts and assets: Fraunces, Source Sans 3 and IBM Plex Mono are all SIL OFL 1.1, verified 2026-09-12, permitting commercial use and PDF embedding; fonts are never sold standalone and licence texts ship in `/licences`. No stock photography anywhere — every diagram, icon and mockup is drawn for us, which removes an entire class of licensing risk that several competitors carry.

Our own diagrams only: the four-direction compass, the eight-area wheel and the Kaizen loop are ours. The ikigai Venn is never used.

Platform rules

Rule	Current value (verified 2026-09-12)	What we do
Gumroad free / $0 products	250 MB total per product	Both free products are ~2 MB; never attach a video
Gumroad paid products	up to 16 GB per file; “Download all” only under 500 MB	Keep each product well under 500 MB so the button works; ship a ZIP if it ever grows
Gumroad covers	1280×720 landscape; square thumbnail separate	Two distinct compositions per product
Etsy (later)	5 files × 20 MB ; title ≤140 chars; 13 tags ≤20 chars	Every brief already complies; consolidate to ≤5 PDFs per listing
Refunds	Most competitors say “no refunds”	We offer a plain 30-day guarantee as a differentiator [Assumption — owner to confirm]

Piracy: the research found a competitor’s Sheets bundle circulating on a piracy forum. Mitigation: a polite licence line in every file, personalised delivery where Gumroad supports it, and no DRM theatre that punishes honest buyers.

Claims

- Money: every money-touching page and listing carries “Educational only — not financial advice.” PB-003’s Money area and PB-005’s spending question both carry the footnote.
- Audits stay non-clinical. We score satisfaction and attention, never symptoms. No “burnout”, “anxiety”, “depression”, “diagnosis”, “assessment”, “healing” or “symptoms” language. Every audit carries: “A structured self-reflection tool, not a diagnosis, assessment or therapy”, plus an encouragement to talk to a professional.
- PB-004 makes behavioural claims only — no weight, calorie, sleep-disorder or medication content, including in sample habits. This is precisely where the category’s best-seller takes on risk.
- No fabricated proof. No sales counts, testimonial walls or “join 200+ others” lines until they are true, and no platform-endorsement badges.

Accessibility

- Body text is ink on warm paper at ≥ 9 pt, never below.
- Colour never carries meaning alone — every accent is paired with a label or shape.
- Every product must be legible in pure greyscale, which is a QA gate on all seven specs (it also serves the ink-light promise).
- Writing lines at 7.5 mm are tested with a real pen at print size, not judged on screen.
- Tablet files are tested in GoodNotes and Notability; Samsung Notes is only claimed if it is actually tested.

Open questions for the owner

Ranked by how much they block the build.

1. Is the brand “Quiet Compass”? Everything else in this plan survives a different name — palette, type, page system and voice are independent of it — but the wordmark, file names and listing copy all wait on this. Our screen found no conflicting shop, product or USPTO record, but a professional trademark search is still required, and it should cover “Kaizen” for PB-004 at the same time. Blocks: all listing copy, week 1.
2. Notion tiers at launch, or later? They add 22 hours and about $10 per product in price, and they reach Gumroad’s dominant buyer group — but every hour there is an hour not spent on the printable line that actually differentiates us. Our recommendation [Assumption]: ship print + tablet first, add Notion to PB-003 and PB-002 once each has its first ten paid sales. Blocks: PB-003 spec scope, week 5.
3. Free tiers inside paid listings, or separate free products? The evidence genuinely supports both, which is why it is Experiment 1. Our recommendation is separate free listings, because a $0 tier caps the whole listing at 250 MB and our paid prices are already low. Blocks: listing structure, week 2.
4. Which audience channel will you actually sustain? This is the question that decides the revenue scenarios — the gap between the low and high cases is almost entirely audience, not product. Newsletter, YouTube, Pinterest and Threads all work in the evidence, but only for people who kept going. Pick one you can do weekly for a year. Blocks: nothing in the build; decides the outcome.
5. Do we offer a 30-day guarantee? Rare in the category and therefore a real differentiator, but it carries refund risk on a $9 product where the buyer keeps the file. Our recommendation is yes, plainly stated. Blocks: listing copy, week 4.

Also worth a decision, but not blocking: when does Etsy research resume (tablet planners are probably Etsy-first, and PB-024/PB-025 wait on it)? Will the owner’s name and face appear on the brand (founder-led shops convert well in the evidence, but it is a personal choice)? And should the launch discounts run at all, given that honest pricing is part of our positioning?

Handoff to the Design/Build agent

Read first: `Product Plans/brand-kit.md` (v1) — palette, type, voice, visual system and listing image rules. Everything in the specs assumes it.

Build queue, in order. The sequence is deliberate: cheap products build the assets the expensive ones reuse, and the page system gets validated before the 46-hour flagship commits to it.

1. Brand identity assets (16 h) — wordmark, compass device, Kaizen loop, icon set, master grid, type styles, mockup templates, spec-strip system
2. PB-006 The One-Page Year (6 h) — `specs/PB-006 The One-Page Year.md`
3. PB-022 The 10-Minute Life Audit (8 h) — `specs/PB-022 The 10-Minute Life Audit.md` · builds the eight-area wheel master
4. PB-001 The Focus Audit (26 h) — `specs/PB-001 The Focus Audit.md` · validates the tab rail and page system
5. PB-003 The Balance Audit (23 h) — `specs/PB-003 The Balance Audit.md` · reuses the wheel
6. PB-002 The Compass System (46 h) — `specs/PB-002 The Compass System.md` · builds the compass and Kaizen loop
7. PB-004 The 90-Day Kaizen Program (42 h) — `specs/PB-004 The 90-Day Kaizen Program.md` · reuses the loop
8. BN-02 bundle assembly — covers, hero, cross-sell links on all four paid listings
9. PB-005 The Review Ritual (34 h) — `specs/PB-005 The Review Ritual.md` · write the 52 questions before layout

Decided — build to this, don't reopen:

- Position, ladder and prices ($Product line architecture, $Bundles & pricing)
- Palette, the three OFL fonts, voice, the thumbnail formula, one accent colour per family
- Every product ships printable A4 + Letter (separately laid out, never scaled) and a hyperlinked tablet PDF
- All 10 image slots per listing
- Our own diagrams only; the ikigai Venn and “Wheel of Life” are banned
- Every page's prompt and instruction copy is written out in the specs — use it as written; it has been checked for originality and for claims

Open — do not guess, ask the owner: the brand name, Notion tiers at launch, free-listing structure, the guarantee. The specs flag exactly where each one bites.

Quality gates before anything ships: the QA checklist at the foot of each spec, plus the three that catch the most: print it on paper and write on it, check it in pure greyscale, and tap every link in both GoodNotes and Notability.

Appendix

Sources

Primary: Research Reports/2026-09-12 Gumroad Digital Product Research Report.md — Executive summary · Method & data confidence · Seller leaderboards · Seller profiles 01-12, S1-S3 · Best-seller teardown · Category analysis · Design & Templates playbook · Branding & positioning map · Pricing & packaging · SEO & copy · Buyer voice · Opportunity matrix · Product idea bank · Recommended launch lineup.

Evidence files: research/01-seller-discovery.md · research/categories/gumroad-categories.md · seller files research/sellers/gumroad-01-heyismail.md, -02-chrisotion, -03-jnkxstudio, -04-atulacleaver, -05-easlo, -06-mariawhitsett, -07-rosidssoy, -08-sijin, -09-lifemathmoney, -10-organizeddashboard, -11-theoverwhelmedbrain, -12-sheetgeekhq, -S1-danielmarthi, -S2-anferneck, -S3-ideastothrive.

Audits read for this plan: gumroad-ideastothrive-aos.md · gumroad-theoverwhelmedbrain-jkSo.md · gumroad-anferneck-my-ikigai.md · gumroad-lifemathmoney-tough.md · gumroad-danielmarthi-limitlessos.md.

Images reviewed: research/audits/thumbs-gumroad-top.png (thumbnail test) · research/audits/heroes-gumroad-top.png · contact sheets research/assets/gumroad/ideastothrive/discipline-system/_sheet.png and research/assets/gumroad/danielmarthi/wheeloflife/_sheet.png.

External screens (2026-09-12, search only — not legal clearance): name searches for Quiet Compass, 1% Studio, Field Manual, Life Compass, Balance Wheel / Focus Audit; the WHEEL OF LIFE® registration record; Kaizen trademark classes; Gumroad file-size limits; Etsy digital-download limits. Font licences verified at github.com/google/fonts/blob/main/ofl/fraunces/OFL.txt, github.com/adobe-fonts/source-sans, github.com/IBM/plex.

ID changelog

ID	Status	Note
PB-001	Carried, renamed	“80/20 Focus Audit: 7-Day Clarity Sprint” → The Focus Audit . ID stable from the sample edition
PB-002	Carried, renamed	“Life Compass OS” → The Compass System — conflict screen (crowded on both platforms; ACT therapy association). ID stable from the sample edition
PB-003	Carried, renamed	“The Balance Wheel Audit” → The Balance Audit — WHEEL OF LIFE® trademark
PB-004, PB-005, PB-006, PB-022	Carried	Names refined; IDs unchanged
PB-007 to PB-021, PB-023 to PB-032	Carried to backlog	Scored here for the first time; no renumbering
BN-01	Carried, held	PB-001 + PB-002, $24. Not launched — cannibalises BN-02

ID	Status	Note
BN-02	Carried, recomposed	Now PB-001 + PB-002 + PB-003 + PB-004 at $49 (was PB-002 + PB-003 + PB-005 + PB-008)
BN-03	Carried to backlog	Money set; waits for a money product

No ID has been renumbered or reused. New products must continue from PB-033 and BN-04.

Plan changelog

- v1 · 2026-09-12 — First plan, from the 2026-09-12 Gumroad research report. Brand direction chosen and screened; two products renamed on trademark and conflict findings; seven build specs written; launch lineup, calendar and bundle set. Awaiting owner decisions on the five open questions.